Coleman Legion Starting Drive For New Building

In keeping with the local Canadian Legion's policy to continue working for the benefit of all ex-servicemen since the 1st great war, and with a record of being more progressive than at any time previously, and with the hope and expectancy that the response of ex-servicemen and members will assist it to become of greater service to the community, it has last week mailed to local members and ex-servicemen a circular outlining its desire to enlarge the present Legion hall as well, as improve the premises and grounds.

Following the mailing of this letter, it has been decided that all ex-servicemen will be campaigned commencing on Monday next, May 23 in the desire to raise the necessary money to commence the planned work.

It has been felt by officers of Coleman Branch that the desire of all members and ex-servicemen will be behind the Legion to further its efforts and that the desire to raise the minimum objective of $3000.00 will be fully instituted.

Briefly the desire of the local branch of the Legion is to borrow from every member and ex-servicemen a sum of $25.00 at no interest, or at the interest of 3% if the sum of money borrowed should be $50.00 or more. In this connection it is also intended that a fund shall be set up and kept in reserve for the benefit of those lenders who might find it urgently necessary to withdraw their loan within the year.

If the response of members and veterans is as expected, the local Legion should in future be among the outstanding in the province, bringing to this community all the benefits enjoyed by members of the Legion in other centres.

It is hoped by the building committee that all those to be canvassed will volunteer their full moral and financial assistance to keep the Coleman Legion Branch No. 9 to the fore in its present and future planned efforts.

Fund For Civic Centre Steadily Growing

A meeting of the Board working on the Coleman Civic Centre building fund was held on May 13, with Father Sullivan as chairman, and B. Bond, treasurer.

At this meeting the treasurer reported the receipt of $1347.27 from Mr. J. Park's Rodeo committee, which though a little late in coming was gladly received, and covered $448.27 from 1947 and $899.00 from 1948. It was pointed out that such worthy contributions slowly but surely build up the fund for the erection of a civic centre, which is evidently badly needed in this town.

The Board decided at the meeting that a drive would at once get under way to raise enough money to build a needed centre as soon as possible. It was realized, that if the community gets behind it, it can do it without much trouble. Even the children, small tots, make their contributions, and it was told that Tom Knight, Bruce Joyce, W. Kennedy, and Bobby Zak, staged a miniature carnival and raised $1.62, which they gave to Mayor F. Aboussaty. In raising the necessary money, Treasurer B. Bond stated: "Let everybody get behind this effort, and make it a realization". If anyone would like to give us any money towards the fund, don't be bashful, send it to Treasurer B. Bond.

Coleman Board Of Trade Base Ball Film Interests Many

23 members of the Coleman Board of Trade were on hand at its supper meeting held in the Grand Union Hotel on Tuesday evening, and on account of the small attendance and showing of the moving pictures of 'World Series' which were to follow, much of the regular business was set aside 'till next meeting. It was of interest however that one Rodeo Queen's entry had been made, and the others were expected in the next few days.

The "World Series" picture, which was shown to a full attendance of localities was most interesting, and the talks on the matter by the Lethbridge guests, Ken Ringland and Henry Viney was most informative and closely followed by all.

- 15th B. Kintuk, Coleman, 10 gals. gas, and Tray, Sentinel Motors and Modern Electric.
- 16th F. Onida, Coleman, 10 gals. gas, Motordrome; $3 cash, Cleaners and Tailors.

Bursary Plan May Solve Teacher Shortage

Solution of Alberta's acute shortage of school teachers is within sight, according to a statement released today by Hon. Ivan Casey, minister of education. As a result of bursaries being offered jointly by school divisions and the Alberta Government, the shortage will have passed its peak in a year's time, it was stated.

The new plan, under which successful applicants will be granted bursaries of $300 each, as well as full payment of tuition fees for the one year course taken at the Calgary or Edmonton Faculty of Education, was announced on April 4. Under the plan, School Divisions throughout Alberta will pay the full amount of each bursary they authorize. The Division will be re-imursed half of this amount by the Province, which will also pay the necessary tuition fees.

Hon. Ivan Casey's Statement

"The Teacher Training Bursary Plan takes the School Division into full partnership in the matter of assisting prospective teachers to finance their training. As previously announced, the Government of Alberta is prepared to spend $150,000, as its share of the Plan, an amount almost double that authorized for the same purpose last year. Each bursary will be $300.00. This will be paid by the School Division concerned, which will then be re-imursed by the Department up to one-half the amount of each bursary granted. In addition, the Department will pay full tuition fees for each successful applicant.

"One of the most gratifying features of the Plan is that because of the co-operation being received, we are coming to a point where the Division can exercise some selection in the teachers they employ. In other words, the solution of Alberta's teacher shortage, which has been acute for the past ten years, seems now well within sight. Last year, some 400 supervisors were used in connection with correspondence courses going out from Edmonton to schools where teachers were unavailable. The results of the Bursary Plan would seem to indicate that more than this number will take advantage of the opportunity to complete their training for the profession thus relieving the shortage at least by the 1950-1951 school term."

One other point upon which the School Divisions are to be congratulated is the provision for loans. This is apart from the Bursary Plan itself, and is undertaken on the sole responsibility of the Division. Over $50,000 has been already been made available to prospective trainees. This is in addition to the total provided for bursaries.

The generosity of the Divisions in taking this action signifies their sincerity in making an all-out to solve what has been a most difficult problem.

Rodeo Committee Busy Organizing For July 9 Show

Coleman Rodeo committee is busy swinging into action in preparation for this year's show billed for July 9th, or about three weeks ahead of last year's show.

Jim Wilkie is president of the executive this year.

The show this year, being just one day ahead of the famous Calgary Stampede, will undoubtedly be the drawing card for many south-of-the-border cow punchers, booked to take part in the Calgary show.

The Rodeo Queen contest, so popular in other years, will likely get underway in another week, at which time the names of the participants will be published. Mr. Jim Drew, is again chairman of this committee and the names of all entrants should be placed with him.

This season's grounds committee consists of L. S. Richards, F. Aboussaty, T. Someshire and Purnell, who will see that the grounds are in shape and protected by fence patrols during the event.

The Coleman Elks will conduct the booths at the show, with George Jenkins managing the carnival concessions.

Parade chairman will be Bill Friser, who Jim Wilkie will help on the job.

It is hoped that the famous "Monty Montanas" will put on their famous show here and negotiations for their services are underway.

Readers are asked to follow weekly these columns as the work of all committees gets underway, and full details of attractions are on hand.

Work On Coleman-Kananaskis Forestry Road Underway

A crew of about 20 workers, employed by the New-West Construction Company, has been busy during the last two weeks getting started on building the southern portion of the Coleman-Kananaskis forestry road, following the arrival at the North Fork Gap ranger station north of Coleman of a considerable amount of road building equipment. This portion of the road is being directed in a southerly line toward Coleman.

The crew, according to an official of the forestry department will likely be greatly increased as additional equipment is arriving every day, and will require far more men than were being used at present.

The program this year calls for the completion of the forestry road from Coleman to Savanna Creek in the southern area and from Kananaskis south for about the same distance. The distance to the Gap, as measured by the new road survey is about 23 miles north of Coleman.

The new road will not only brighten the outlook of the forest rangers in the area, but will also add greatly to the prospects of local fishermen and game enthusiasts as it will enable them to reach the favorite fishing and game spots by a much shorter route, which is at present by way of Lundbreck and a distance of about 50 miles.

Work on the Coleman end of the road, of which some 8 miles was constructed last year, is expected to re-commence during the next week or so, following the run off of the snow which has held up operations.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Tear Out The Grass :: Albert Dreamed Of The City, Dances And Girls

By ROBERT OBERFIRST

ALBERT HARRISON had to get up out of the long grass because Max Stone, the farmer, caught sight of him and said, "There's work to do."

Albert muttered at the fates that had directed the farm employment agency to send him to this sun-baked farm. "You'll like it on the farm," they had said. "The Stones will take you right into the family. Stone is a good man but a sick man and he needs help." Albert could see nothing sick about Stone who worked from dawn to dusk. Even the two kids joined in the endless toil.

"Better finish hoeing the corn, Albert. Two hours to dinner."

"Okay, Mr. Stone. I was just resting. I'm not used to this farm work."

"You'll get used to it."

Albert picked up the hoe and watched Stone span the horse Prince to the plow. From the first he had abhorred the thick-soled shoes worn by the farmer, like two shapless clouds of earth on the land which Albert's own one-shined city shoes had to follow whenever Stone showed him what next to hoe. This hoeing business! And the sun nothing but a furnace! As he piled the hoe, he thought back to the city where he belonged, where his parents lived

Shame that they were so poor they couldn't have him live with them while he wasn't working. Things had been fine until he was laid off at the gas works. That job had been a pinch.

Now the woman coming out, wearing her gingham apron in which she had just finished cooking the noon-day meal. She carried a hoe. That woman was a fool!

Albert could see the two boys crawling along on their bare knees and weeding a patch of beets. Mr. Stone was yelling at the top of his voice, "Giddy-yap, Prince! Come on, you lazy Prince!" And this, thought Albert sourly, went on year after year.

Presently, Albert was dreaming again of the city. The dances and the girls! In the city you lived, laughed, had some fun.

Now Stone was telling him, "Bend down, Albert. Tear out the grass. Don't tear out the corn." Albert winced. That was the purpose of her existence. Tear out the grass.

He could walk out, could hitch-hike back, could make little loans from the fellows he knew. But he remembered that the fellows had hated him for his attempts to scrounge. He remembered the hunger. No good. There were three squares here. Soon time. He could tell, from practice, by the sun at the top. "Come eat dinner," announced Mrs. Stone as she finished a row. "Max! Dinner!" She didn't have to call the boys. They were streaking toward the house.

At dinner—potatoes, beef, bread pudding, apple pie—Stone suddenly leaned forward on the table and the potato on his fork fell to the floor. "I knew it would come. The attack, Albert. Take the truck and hurry for Dr. Fisher." She applied cold compresses to Max's stomach. He breathed heavily.

The doctor was calm. "This time he will have to have an operation. It's the gall bladder. You take his feet, young man, and I'll take his head."

First one boy said good-bye, then the other. Mrs. Stone placed a blanket over him to keep out drafts when they rode. Then she put her chubby hand with its torn nails on her husband's forehead. Albert heard her say, "Dr. Fisher drove away with the farmer."

The woman in her gingham apron went to the shed and got her hoe. The two boys followed. "There's work to do," she said. They started toward the cornfield, but a few yards off she turned her head and her eyes looked straight at Albert. "Okay," he said.

BRITISH MOTORIST CAN HAVE HIS TEA

LONDON.—British motorists now can enjoy their afternoon tea while touring the countryside. The new electric kettle which operates off the car battery. The pot is at the boil 15 minutes after it is plugged into the dashboard socket.

New Province Boosts Seats In Commons

OTTAWA.—Newfoundland's entry into Confederation and the redistribution act of 1947 means a 17-seat expansion in the House of Commons in the June 27 Federal election and boosts Senate representation by six.

Newfoundland is entitled to seven Commons seats. The redistribution act adds 10 others, raising membership from 245 to 262. Newfoundland is entitled to six Senate seats, raising membership there from 96 to 102.

Here, in brief, is how the new Commons will compare with the old:

Province	1945	1949
Ontario	82	83
Quebec	65	73
Nova Scotia	12	13
New Brunswick	10	10
Prince Edward Island	4	4
Manitoba	17	16
British Columbia	16	18
Saskatchewan	21	20
Alberta	17	17
Yukon	1	1
Newfoundland	nil	7
Total	245	262

Prior to the 1947 act, Quebec was used as the basis for fixing representation in the Commons. The quotient was reached by dividing Quebec's 65 seats into the province's population.

Under the 1947 act the quotient was arrived at by dividing 250 into the country's 1945 population of 11,391,599. The 250 figure represented the number of seats in all areas except Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and the Yukon.

Newfoundland was given seven seats under the terms of the British North America Act when it was first drafted in 1867. Prince Edward Island comes under a statutory provision which states that no province can have fewer members in the Commons than it has in the Senate. It has four in each.

Yukon's membership of one in the Commons is fixed by statute. The quotient arrived at by dividing 250 into 11,391,599 is 45,566. Divided into Ontario's population of 3,787,655 it shows that province is entitled to 83 members, one more than it has at present. Quebec is entitled to an additional eight. British Columbia gets two more seats and Nova Scotia one. Saskatchewan and Manitoba each lose a seat. The other provinces remain unchanged.

Redistribution of Commons seats is supposed to take place every 10 years following the decennial census. The last census was taken in 1941 and redistribution was due in 1942 or 1943.

However, with the war on and with the population of the country largely dislocated it was decided to postpone redistribution. The new redistribution will be due in 1952, based on the census taken in 1951.

New Dam Will Aid Water Supply To Manitoba Cities

REGINA.—The construction of the $66,300,000 South Saskatchewan river dam will affect the water supplies of Winnipeg, Brandon, Man., Moose Jaw, Sask., and Regina. G.L. MacKenzie, chief engineer for the prairie farm rehabilitation administration said.

Water will be diverted down the Qu'Appelle valley to restore the level of Buffalo Pound Lake and give Regina and Moose Jaw an assured supply of mountain water.

The dam will improve the water supply for Brandon, which is dependent for its water upon the uncertain flow of the Assiniboine river, Mr. MacKenzie said.

It also will improve the flow through Winnipeg and provide some relief for a serious river pollution problem existing there.

The first engineering report on the feasibility of the dam was made in 1947, when the estimated time for actual construction was put at 10 years. That estimate of time and the cost figure still stand, Mr. MacKenzie said.

More than half of the hospital beds in the United States are in mental institutions.

Canada's Oil Output Grows

OTTAWA.—With Canada's oil industry continuing to expand, there was a big increase in the amount of crude petroleum received by refineries from sources within this country during January.

The Bureau of Statistics reports that Canadian sources contributed 1275,000 barrels of crude to the stream flowing into refineries compared with 727,000 barrels in January a year ago.

This larger amount represents 21.3 per cent. of the total crude received at refineries compared with 13.7 per cent. a year before. At the same time, however, more imported crude came into Canada, with Venezuela supplying the bulk of the 4,716,000 barrels imported in comparison with 4,404,000 in January, 1948.

As for the refined product, inventories and output both were higher. Production was up 10 per cent. and inventories up 27 per cent.

The month's production of refined petroleum products amounted to 6,729,000 barrels compared with 5,706,000 and stocks at the end of the month were 12,873,000 barrels compared with 1,909,723. The United States, second largest outside source, supplied 1,825,068 barrels as against 2,382,619.

Henry Henkel, Calgary, introduced Cliff McDonald president of the Nipawin Curling club, who made the presentation. Eric Austin, president of the Flin Flon Curling club, thanked Mr. Henkel and Mr. McDonald for travelling to Flin Flon for the occasion and congratulated the champions.

A large crowd witnessed the presentation, which was recorded on film and which climaxed the most exciting sports event for Flin Flon fans during the past season.

"We Liberals have dedicated ourselves to maintaining a high level of employment and income, because that means a high and widely distributed standard of living for our people."

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent

You share— every Canadian shares— in the greater Opportunity Prosperity Security

brought about by constructive Liberal policies

Liberals mean what they say. Look over the record of the last five years—the most impressive period of prosperity and growth in our history. It shows that Liberal performance exceeds Liberal promises.

Under Liberal policies, Canadians can be confident that this forward march will continue—that Liberal promises will again be carried out.

More Jobs—More Income
More people are working than in any previous peacetime period—nearly a million more than in 1939. National income is three times as high as in 1939, is more widely distributed than ever before.

More Savings
People have nearly 2½ million more bank accounts than before the war. They have put aside more than 4 billion dollars in personal bank savings.

More Production and Trade
The products of our farms and forests, factories and mines and fisheries are worth twice as much as ten years ago. And Canada's exports are more than four times greater. Canada is the world's third largest trading nation.

More Family Allowances
The federal government has, since 1945, invested one billion dollars in Canada's children. Four million boys and girls in 1½ million families are receiving a better start in life. Benefits are being extended this year.

More Old Age Pensions
Federal payments have been twice increased since 1945. The new pension basis is now increased to $40.00 a month, providing greater comfort and security for the aged and blind.

National Health
Health grants to provinces are helping to build a stronger nation. Many projects are already under way: nine province-wide health surveys; 13,000 additional hospital beds; training for health specialists; increased health services and research.

Aid to Home Builders
Close to 300,000 dwellings have been built since the war. More homes have been built in Canada, in proportion to population, than in any other country; and more were built last year than any time in our history.

Aid and lowered taxes as well!
By careful administration the Liberal government has established these records and been able at the same time to cut the national debt by 1,625 million dollars. And every budget since 1945 has announced lowered rates of taxation.

FROM LONDON

From London there comes increasing evidence that the Budget, an honest attempt by Sir Stafford Cripps to avert national bankruptcy, leaves the sober elements of the Labour Party in a hopeless position. Sensible people realize that the Labour Government has now thrown in its hand on Socialism; admits the failure of its schemes. They therefore turn increasingly to the Conservatives, despite their lack of any platform.

Communists, on the other hand, tend to pick up some of the extreme Leftist Socialists, since the Communists are now the only Party in Britain which can preach unlimited distribution of money by the Government, without taxation. There will probably be an increasing tendency to a split in the Labour Party on this issue.

Municipal election results, showing gains by the Conservatives, should not be exaggerated. They do show the growing weakness of a Socialist Government which has failed to carry out the fancy promises which it made.

British export trade runs daily into new difficulties over high prices, and the idea of devaluing the £ gains strength. It is not devaluation, but an open market for currencies which is wanted.

"Free" Medical Care evidently does not apply on Saturdays. Manchester Guardian, April 7th, reports an inquest on a child of three, died as the result of inability to obtain admission to an hospital on Saturday morning, on the ground that patients are not admitted on that day.—The Letter Review, Fort Erie, Ont.

NUMBER LABOUR— MANAGEMENT PRODUCTION COMMITTEES INCREASING

At the beginning of 1949 there were 600 Labour-Management Production Committees in operation in Canada; 57 more than at the beginning of 1948. It was shown by a report of the Labour-Management Co-operation Service of the Department of Labour, issued April 28 by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour.

In the first three months of 1949, 22 new committees were added to the list and 7 deleted making the total 615 at Mar. 31, 1949. This was a substantial increase from the 543 committees in operation at the beginning of 1948 and showed an increasing recognition by both management and labour of the mutual benefits to be gained by joint consultation on production problems, Mr. Mitchell pointed out.

The Labour-Management Co-operation Service, of the Industrial Relations Branch, Dept. of Labour, sponsors the formation of these committees in industry.

The committees are made up of representatives from management and labour and function in an advisory capacity on all matters affecting industrial productive agreements.

A breakdown by industrial groups of the 600 committees in operation at January 1, 1949, showed that recognition of the value of these committees was not confined to any specific industry. The list showed manufacturing with 365 committees, involving 160,470 workers; mining, 41 committees, involving 25,068 workers; communications, 41 committees, involving 10,537 workers; service, 22 committees, involving 12,494 workers; and transportation, 121 committees, involving 56,806 workers.

Among the industries making up the total for the manufacturing group were; textile products, 24 committees; pulp and paper products, 40 committees; lumber and its products, 22 committees; edible plant products, 29 committees; leather products, 23 committees; iron and its products, 93 committees; chemicals and allied products, 22 committees; electrical apparatus, 19 committees.

In the communications category, the telephone industry had 33 committees involving 7,092 workers.

In the construction industry although there were only two committees, 8,840 workers were involved. In retail and wholesale trade there were seven committees involving 1,819 workers.

The largest representation in the transportation industry was steam railways, with 103 committees, involving 51,031 workers.

Britain's Dollar Drive

TRADE BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND CANADA is one of the many matters which have been complicated as a result of the war. The reasons why Britain has of late found it necessary to curtail expenditures in countries outside of the sterling area are well known, but in spite of the extensive liquidation of British assets abroad during the war, and other circumstances which have brought about the present situation, the fact remains that as long as the United Kingdom cannot buy from Canada, a great market for our agricultural products and numerous other items is closed, and the effect of this upon our economic structure is too serious to be overlooked.

Is Realized In Britain

This fact is realized in Great Britain as well as in this country. A short time ago, Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, made a very clear and careful statement concerning the situation to the Canadian public through the press. To further demonstrate British concern over this matter, it has recently been announced that Sir Graham Cunningham, a prominent British solicitor and industrialist, and a member of the Economic Planning Board, has been appointed head of a department representing United Kingdom industry, which will work with the Board of Trade in efforts to increase exports to Canada and the United States.

Planning Great Export Drive

The necessity of building up exports to this continent in an effort to increase the United Kingdom dollar reserves has been recognized, and an effort is now being made to mobilize British industry in a great export drive. This is regarded as the only means by which Britain can secure dollars with which to purchase goods from Canada and the United States. Sir Graham Cunningham and the members of his department are to advise industry as to the needs of the markets in the dollar countries and to help in every way possible to build up a long-term programme for increasing trade between the United Kingdom and those countries which are outside of the sterling area. These efforts will be appreciated in this country and the progress of the work of Sir Graham Cunningham will be followed with interest in the coming months.

Orders Placed For Pipeline Supplies

TORONTO. — Imperial Oil Ltd. announced that it has placed orders exceeding $9,000,000 for supplies for its projected pipeline between Edmonton and Regina.

"The Edmonton-Regina line, said the announcement, is a first step in making western oil available over a much wider area, because large pipelines carry oil in volume at lower cost than any other means of transportation.

"Prairie oil production has already reached a level where markets must be sought and reached."

The line is expected to be completed by the end of next year.

The word syrup is derived from the Arabic word sharab, which means to drink.

Candor will lose you some friends, but not as many as deceit. —Young.

SALMO, B.C.—M. Nittel of Trail was winner of the Salmo River barrel derby sponsored by the Salmo Athletic Club. Time for the barrel to float from Ymir bridge to Salmo bridge was two hours, six minutes and 41 seconds. Mr. Nittel's guess was two hours, four minutes and 45 seconds.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

Father: "When I was a boy, I thought nothing of a 10-mile walk."

Son, who is a little tired of hearing about the good old days: "Well, I don't think so much of it myself."

An old couple went to the zoo and saw two kangaroos. One of the keepers stroked one.

"They are natives of Australia, you know," explained the keeper.

"You don't say?" gasped the old lady. "And to think that my poor sister married one of them."

Doctor: "Did you give your husband the powder as I told you—enough to cover a shilling?"

Mrs. Jones: "Oh yes, doctor, only I hadn't got a shilling, so I covered 12 pennies instead."

Two hunters had been in the woods for many hours and there was no grating around the fact that they were lost.

"What shall we do?" cried one, in panic. "We are lost!"

"Don't get so excited," said his friend. "Shoot an extra deer. The game warden'll find us inside of 30 seconds."

Honswife: "You should be ashamed to be seen begging at my house."

Tramp: "Oh, don't feel like that. I've seen worse houses than this one."

The daughter was concerned about the amount of money her boy friend was spending on her each time he took her out.

Daughter—Mother, that is the best way to stop Tom from spending too much money on me?

Mother—Marry him.

Farmer's Wife: "Out of work, are you?"

Well, there's a pile of wood that needs splitting, and I was just going to send for a man to split it."

Hobo, anxious to help: "Is that so? Where does he live? I'd be glad to go get him for you."

"Would you like to play basketball?"

"Oh, no, I don't know enough about it; but I'd be glad to referee."

Says Confidence In Saskatchewan Growing

REGINA. — Back from a four-week visit to eastern Canada and the United States, Premier Douglas said he had found a growing confidence in Saskatchewan's financial position and increased interest in the province's oil and mineral development.

The Husky Oil and Refining Company, a United States concern, has received financial aid from the C.N.S. National Bank to conduct oil exploration on some 4,000,000 acres in Saskatchewan, the premier said.

Irrigation Projects In Alberta Are Proving Practical And Profitable

THE earliest record of irrigation in Alberta dates back to 1879 when a small ditch was built south of the present city of Calgary. For the next 15 years small irrigation works were built by ranchers, mainly for the irrigation of hay meadows. With the passing of the Northwest Irrigation Act by parliament in 1894, the benefits to be derived from irrigation in the Prairie provinces were brought to the attention of the public throughout Canada.

The passing of this Act marked the beginning of a definite policy for the development of irrigation in Southern Alberta. During the past 50 years this development has progressed from small individual schemes, community enterprises, private and corporation projects, to the present development under the Irrigation Districts plan. The results obtained in these irrigation districts have clearly demonstrated that the soil and climatic conditions of Southern Alberta are really suited for the production of livestock, the growing of forage crops, sugar beets, peas and other vegetables, registered seed and fruits. Intensive mixed farming has replaced the growing of wheat in irrigated areas and agriculture has been stabilized in dry-land farm areas formerly subjected to devastating droughts.

Communities of prosperous farmers now live in the enjoyment of greater social and educational advantages resulting from economic independence. But these irrigation oases cover only a small part of this stretch of dry land which is potentially fertile. Irrigation farms are located at Taber and Raymond, where sugar beet crops are grown successfully. Lethbridge district, where an experimental irrigation farm is located; Brooks, Strathmore, Coaldale, Bassano and Vanhulst districts are where wheat and vegetable farming is extensively grown by irrigation. The projects now operating have proved conclusively that irrigation of the dry land in Southern Alberta is both practical and profitable. Further and proposed irrigation projects are in progress and planned.

A GOOD PROPOSITION — Ecologists have a proposition that will make money for seed growers as well as themselves. An example may be seen in the above picture. The vial on the left holds the 365 seeds from 100 heads of jacinth clover when bees were excluded. When bees had access to the clover, 13,016 seeds were produced in 100 heads as shown in the vial on the right.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS
THE OLD GARDENER

By JANE DALE

It would not seem like spring if we didn't see
The old man slowly trudging up the lane
With a hoe and rake slung across his shoulder
And a basket of seed to plant again.
His old smock is dulled by sun and shower;
His hands overall are stained with soil.
Upon the weatherbeaten face there
Is content
In knowing that though old he yet can toil.

The old man labors on with patient hands
No riotous pleasures lure him from his tasks.
To till the moist warm earth and feel the sun
Upon his ageing back is all he asks.
Spring would not seem like spring without him there,
Toiling through the days with rake and hoe.
Resting at odd moments to gaze afar
And travel the road were old thoughts go.

THINNING WIRE

In the steel industry, coarse, large size wire is drawn on machines called "bull blocks". Heavy coiled rod is fed through the die and clamped to a round block which revolves to provide the force needed for thinning the rod to wire.

New Industries May Follow Building Of Aluminum Plant

VANCOUVER — McNelly Dubois, vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada, said in an interview a large steel plant and other new industries may follow establishment of an aluminum plant on the west coast.

The official said his company is prepared to go ahead with plans for the huge aluminum plant if present surveys are favorable.
"If and when we start the plant," he said, "we hope to see a steel industry located, also a pulp and paper plant, and a company for making fertilizers."

He estimated the entire project, including a townsite and other developments, will cost more than $500,000,000. The townsite would support a population of 50,000, he said.

Regina Children Will Miss Their Real-Bearded Santa Claus

CRANBROOK, B.C. — One of Canada's few real-bearded Santa Clauses died here.

He was Antos Elmer, 74, who meant more to the children of Regina than the plinky Christmas trees he brought with him.
Mr. Elmer was born in Wiesbaden, Germany, in 1875 and as a youth settled in Copper Cliff, Ont., where he became a Canadian citizen and remained until 1902. After a short stay in the United States he came to this district.

In his younger days he was a champion hewer of ties, cutting 50

ad's few real-bearded Santa Clauses a few years ago.

In 1946 he appealed to the welfare department to remove him from the old age pension list—and manufactured several carloads of peeled pit-pines for export to Great Britain.
He owned little rights near the city and as a seasonal sideline cut a few carloads of Christmas trees each year.

He accompanied these to Regina and sold them himself from a stand there.
As a grand climax he played Santa Claus at the annual Policemen's Christmas party for Regina children.
Each September he would start a beard to have it at the proper length for Christmas, then remove it for the summer months.

Did Better Without Modern Conveniences

NEW WESTMINSTER — Modern conveniences ... phooey! Sometimes a man can do better without them.
Alvin Stue, husky victor from Reading, Penn., couldn't find a phone when his car caught fire.

But he found out where the fire hall was and sprinted two blocks as hard as he could to get firemen. They saved his car from serious damage.

Later, Mr. Stue drove around to thank them. He hadn't had enough for that on his first visit.

QUESTION ISSUE OF NEW STAMPS—Canada, which is famous for the work over for the fine quality of its stamps, has had its reputation questioned with the issue of a new series of stamps that bear reproductions of Dorothy Wilding portraits of the King in civilian dress. Several stamps have been issued by Canada in the past three years with errors or questionable features, but in every case the stamp was otherwise a first-class job. In the few new stamps coming out, only the four-cent is up to the usual standard of Canadian stamps, with the five-cent one being just fair. The one-cent stamp robs the King's face of its real strength and character. In the two-cent stamp the engraving job done on the portrait makes one ear look higher than the other. The three-cent stamp lacks shading. The month, too, is out of proportion. The color work on most of the stamps is also reported to be below the usual Canadian standard. These stamps all go on sale June 6.—S.N.S. photo.

WINNIPEG — Hamburgers are no longer the popular snack they once were in Norway, Ragnvald Bjelland of Stavanger, Norway, representing a Norwegian canning company, said in an interview here.

Whaleburgers have taken their place.

The whaleburgers are reported so popular that all the whale meat obtainable is used in Norway, with none left over for export.

There's a big investment behind the gas for every car

Finding oil and bringing it to you—in the kind of products you need, and at low prices—is a big job and takes a lot of money. Behind that dependable supply are thousands of Canadians engaged in finding, producing, transporting, refining and marketing—working with tools that cost hundreds of millions. But the investment in those tools is your guarantee of adequate supply and minimum price.

FIRST, the oil must be found. This means expensive equipment and the risking of money in patient search. A single deep test drilling rig is worth half a million dollars and one unsuccessful well in the Alberta foothills has cost more than a million. Then when oil fields are found, they must be developed; just to drill and equip one well in the Leduc field costs about $100,000.

SECOND, crude oil must be transported to a refinery. Tank cars, pipe lines and ocean and lake tankers are the vehicles. A large pipe line may cost $100,000 a mile; Imperial's largest tanker, just put into service, cost more than $5 millions.

THIRD, the crude oil must be refined into hundreds of useful products. Large and complex refining units are the workman's equipment here. To meet your increasing needs for more and better products Imperial since the war has added refining capacity to process an extra 31,000 barrels per day. The cost was more than $30 millions.

FOURTH, the products must be marketed—this means they must be made available to you when and where you need them. The tools of the marketer are such things as service stations, truck fleets, coastal ships, barges, oil drums and tanks. This equipment, too, adds up to millions.

Canadians are using twice as much oil as in 1939. To help meet your increasing needs Imperial has sought and found new fields, built ships and pipe lines, erected new refinery units, installed new marketing equipment. It costs more than twice as much to do these things as before the war.

The money we needed to do these things came from borrowing, from the sale of investments and from earnings put back into the business after paying dividends.

This money is helping to provide the tools to bring you all the oil you need—at the lowest possible price.

Bringing you oil is a big job—and a costly one.

If you're interested in facts . . .

The price of a gallon of gasoline today is about the same as the price of a gallon of distilled water.

For years before the war the wholesale price of gasoline dropped almost steadily and although it has been caught in the general upswing of costs it has not increased nearly as much as other commodities.

Since 1939 the general wholesale price index has more than doubled but the petroleum products price index has advanced by less than two-thirds.

On its 1948 operations Imperial earned a profit equivalent to less than one cent a gallon for each gallon of products sold.
